

Amanda Tovar

While attending Texas Tech University Amanda found her passion. Growing up Amanda's family never discussed money management openly. Credit, retirement savings, investing, and life insurance were all words that were never used openly in her household. Her Bachelor's degree in Personal Financial Planning taught her that with proactive planning families will make their future a brighter one as long as they lay the groundwork for where they want to go. She graduated college at the age of twenty and began her career as a Financial Advisor. Amanda continued her education at Thurgood Marshall School of Law where she gained knowledge and experience in insurance and tax law. She decided that her desire to serve others would best be accomplished through financial education and her role as a State Farm Agent. Amanda is an active supporter of Converse and the Metro com area. She became a director of the Judson Education Foundation in late 2009. She believes that education is the best way to make a difference within the community.
