

Welcome,

I grew up in San Antonio and spent my early years next door at Northeast ISD. From there I attended The University of Houston and graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Psychology and then transferred to Texas State to receive a Master of Education in Special Education.

I look forward to my 17th year in education incorporating online tools and activities to help students develop a deeper understanding of reading and writing grade level TEKS.

This year students will have a two-period block class that combines the elements of both reading and writing to help develop a deeper understanding of grade level TEKS. We will cover 5 units of study to include the following instructional units: Foundational Reading and Writing Skills, Taking Action and Facing Difficulties, Teamwork/Love, Perception vs. Reality, and Journey into the Future and Exploring What Comes Next

Students will be graded on the following categories, tests/projects that will be worth 40% and daily grades/quizzes that will count for 60% of their average.

To help students be successful, I only have two rules in my classroom: be respectful and be responsible. If a student has difficulty meeting my expectations, I will first have a private conversation with them, and if needed, follow up with a parent phone call and depending on the severity or persistence of the behavior, I will submit an office referral.

The best way to reach me is through email and I will respond within 24 hours, not including weekends or holidays.
